He was the leading rebounder in the Tri-Valley League last year, averaging a double-double for the season, rebounding and scoring. He is a very good post defender as well. Britton Kosier is a solid three point threat who can take the ball to the basket. Ty Raubenstine is very quick with great hands, capable of shooting from three. Scott Dreher bangs inside and TK provides great leadership, tough D and excellent three point accuracy. Which teams in your respective conferences do you think are loaded for the 2009/10? Greenwood has the most talent in our league, a quick shooting guard, a scoring guard with quickness and good hops, and an athletic forward who can score and shut people down, along with athletic role players, quickness, and height. Millersburg played very well this summer and have a lot of returning starters. They will be very good. Halifax has an excellent veteran forward/guard, a shooting guard, and a lot of veterans. They will be in the mix for the title. Line Mountain came on strong last season. They have good young players. What are the keys for a successful season? Our athletes need to make a quick transition from their Fall Sports to the hardwood. The biggest key for success will be how well we are able to play together, i.e., accepting, encouraging and incorporating our younger ballplayers into the mix and therefore creating a positive team atmosphere. Staying healthy is also a big factor for a successful season.
